About me

- Goals: Fewer breakouts, More even tone
- Skin type (my own view): Combination
- Skin colour (YouCam Skin Tone Analysis, earlier scan): #cf9a7b, intermediate on the ITA scale (37°)
- Budget: Balanced (up to two treatment products). Time: 5 to 10 minutes a day

Focus areas

1. Pores 48/100. Pores look most visible on your nose (40/100). Oil and dead skin that sit in pores make them look larger, so the plan keeps them clear and balances oil.
2. Oil balance 52/100. Shine comes from active oil glands; light textures and oil-balancing ingredients help without stripping the skin.
3. Breakouts 59/100. Breakouts start in clogged pores, so the plan targets oil, clogging and calm skin, and avoids over-scrubbing.

Current home routine

Morning

1. Gentle gel cleanser, every morning (because your oiliness score is 52/100)
2. Niacinamide serum (4–5%), daily (because your pores score is 48/100 and your oiliness score is 52/100)
3. Light gel moisturiser, every morning (because your oiliness score is 52/100)
4. Tinted mineral sunscreen with iron oxides, SPF 30 or higher (medium tint, matte or gel-fluid finish), every morning, rain or shine (because your spots score is 68/100 and your oiliness score is 52/100; YouCam measured your skin colour as #cf9a7b (intermediate on the ITA skin-tone scale, 37°))

Evening

1. Gentle gel cleanser, every evening (because your oiliness score is 52/100)
2. Salicylic acid (BHA, 0.5–2%), 3 evenings a week (because your pores score is 48/100 and your oiliness score is 52/100)
3. Light gel moisturiser, every evening (because your oiliness score is 52/100)

To discuss with a professional

Nothing in this scan points to a clinic visit right now.

Questions to ask

- Which of these options suit my skin type, budget and schedule?
- How many sessions are usual, and what downtime should I plan for?
- Should anything on this summary be checked medically first?
